January Update: New Year, New Plants

As we usher out the old year and enter the new, there is much to be grateful for.

We are grateful for all the continuing support and patience from our customers in this past year - a year of many changes and new challenges.

We are grateful for the opportunity to be of value to our business partners and an integral role in the community we serve. So much of what we do as a business affects the prosperity of our business community, and we are working hard to honor this privilege.

What are you grateful for? Where will you make a difference?

Let us have a safe, prosperous and Happy New Year.

Thank you,

Robert

Philotheca myoporoides
'Profusion'

This hardy, compact shrub grows to 4-5 ft. tall and wide. In late winter and early spring, pink buds open to a profusion of white flowers. It has aromatic leaves that are somewhat reminiscent of the apple fragrance

Protea 'Pink Ice'

A stunning and tough dense evergreen shrub that grows to 8 feet tall by nearly as wide with attractive leathery long narrow leaves and silvery-pink flowers from fall into winter. One of the first of the protea to bloom; often will have flowers for a when the plant is brushed against or if the leaves are crushed. Does best in dappled shade; tolerates full sun.

Agapanthus praecox 'Silver Streak'

Hardy evergreen perennial. Grows to about 2 ft tall & clumps to about 3 ft wide with undulating variegated leaves that are over 1 inch wide and 24 to 30 inch long with strong cream colored margins and finer cream striations on the green center of the leaf. In early to mid-summer appear the medium-sized blue flowers on 3-4 foot tall stalks. Hardy to 20-25 F.

solid 9 months or more. Good frost tolerance, down to low 20's F; ability to tolerate a wide range of soil types.

Mangave 'Lavender Lady'

Mangave is a relatively new phenomenon, an intergeneric cross of Manfreda x Agave. These rare hybrids combine the best of both worlds: the better growth rate & the interesting patterns of Manfreda, and the habit & refinement of Agave. 'Lavender Lady' is a unique, feminine beauty whose solitary rosette habit & smoky purple coloration make it look very similar to an Echeveria.

California Monarch Butterflies: How Can We Help?

San Diego Zoo Global sounded the alarm Monday after a count in November showed the population of monarch butterflies falling to an all-time low in California. Monarch populations in California are threatened by a number of factors but conservationists want people to know that there are steps the community can take to save the butterflies:

- Plant native: Native plants, and in particular native milkweed, give monarchs their best chance for success.
- Choose nectar-rich plants: Migrating adult monarchs must have access to nectar in the early spring, and they will navigate through urban gardens to get it.
- Plant now: Get native plants and seeds into the ground ahead of the winter rains.
- Record observations: Biologists still lack key information about the movement of western monarchs. Add your observations to the Western Monarch Milkweed Mapper or the Monarch Larva Monitoring Project.
