

May Update

May Flowers

We didn't get the April rain; but we sure have the May flowers! To quote the poet Rainier Maria Rilke,

"Everything is blooming most recklessly" - Roses are exploding in red, purple, pink, yellow; Osteospermum are popping in our sun yard; Peonies with their bounteous blossoms are brightening up the shade house; even Tulbaghia violacea are blooming up in our #05 pot area. Check out our Nursery News section below for more photos and information on featured plants.

May Day, celebrated on May 1st, is traditionally a celebration of the Earth's returning life. Is there a Spring checklist you run through this time of year to ensure the health of your or your clients' blooming garden or landscape? Or are you or your clients looking to transition to a sustainable yard or garden this year, or thinking about growing food? Check out our Gardening & Landscaping section for helpful tips on these timely subjects.

Finally, as always, we feature a fun selection of local and online events for landscapers and gardeners; from local garden clean-ups, to an APLD online seminar, to an online lunch event for Women in Sustainability. We love helping spread community news and events, so please let us know if you or any businesses you know are holding any relevant events in the coming months.

We continue to be inundated with orders in both our retail and wholesale aspects, so please get your orders in as soon as possible to ensure that you have your plants on time, when and where you need them! With gratitude -

Thank you,

Jane

New & Featured Products

Roses

We have many varieties of roses in patio, pot, and groundcover form; in white, peach, purple, pink, red, yellow, and combinations thereof. All are blooming now in our rose plant section next to the hand carts.

Agastache 'Tutti Frutti'

This long-blooming perennial features gorgeous pink flower spikes and scented gray-green leaves. A great choice for a full-sun pollinator garden, it attracts bees, butterflies, and hummingbirds.

Pelargonium 'GBF Lavender'

This Geranium Ivy - 'Great Balls of Fire Lavender' - blooms in large, semi double flowers against green foliage. Heat and drought tolerant, it blooms all summer and prefers full sun to part shade.
