September Update

We've got so much new and blooming at the nursery right now - as Autumn moves in, the days get shorter, and many plants are beginning a second bloom cycle.

What plants are you looking at for Autumn? Whether it's long-bloomers to brighten up your Fall gardens, or fancy foliage, or textured, late-flowering succulents, we have options for you for September: see below in Nursery News for some bright new arrivals, and keep scrolling to Garden & Landscaping for our favorite Autumn flowering plants.

September is also a great time to take a class or two and get more involved in community: check out Events & Workshops for new industry classes and local happenings.

We are grateful for your business and continued support - please let us know what we can do to help your business succeed. We wish you a bountiful September and look forward to seeing you again soon!

Thank you,
Jane

Nursery News

We've been getting so many new deliveries as we move into Autumn - from flowering shrubs to new varieties of succulents to water-wise, drought-tolerant options perfect for late Summer and early Fall. Check out some of our favorites below:

Leptospermum
rotundifolium

'Manning's Choice'

Also known as Tea Tree, this showy, densely flowering evergreen shrub can grow up to 6 feet tall and wide. A great choice for flower gardens.

- Spring bloomer
- Small, dark green leaves
- Full sun
- Moderate water
- Pink-lavender flowers

Senecio palmeri 'Silver and Gold'

An evergreen shrub in the sunflower family featuring eye-catching, oblong silver foliage (an excellent contrast plant) and clusters of bright yellow, daisy-type flowers.

- Spring-Summer bloomer
- Sun or part shade
- Grows 2-3 ft tall x wide
- Drought tolerant
- Low water needs
- Attracts bees

Autumn Flowers

FOR THE CALIFORNIA LANDSCAPE

We had a chance to speak with owner Robert L. about the changes we see in the nursery in early September. He tells us:

"There's so much starting to emerge this time of year. As the days are getting shorter and the temperatures are more moderate, the next bloom cycle is triggered and a new growth spurt takes hold. Plants that have been sitting quiet, semi-dormant, are starting to show signs of growth ahead of Autumn. Lots of plants bloom on new wood, so there will be some lovely, fresh flowers to go along with the new growth."

Here are some of Robert's suggestions to brighten up your autumnal California landscape after a Summer of drought:

Abutilon

"The richly contrasting hues of Abutilon (Chinese Lantern) are a real showstopper."

Featuring dark green foliage and lantern-shaped flowers, this bountiful, upright plant comes in several different varieties, including the relatively rare "Tiger Eye" and "Victor Reiter" (photo).

Cestrum 'Orange Peel'

"Cestrum's showy, bell-shaped flower clusters add seasonal color to a sun- or part-shade garden."

A low-maintenance yet frost-tender shrub blooming through fall, Cestrum grows to 6 x 6 feet and is a great choice for hedges, containers, or borders.

Phlomis Purpurea

"This Jerusalem Sage is drought-tolerant, blooms through late Fall, and has a wonderful fuzzy texture to its whorled lavender flowers."

An excellent choice for adding color and texture to coastal gardens, this tough plant is hardy to 15 degrees and requires very little watering once established.
